

Title: Juba lacks base stations

Generated on: 2026-03-08 14:17:50

Copyright (C) 2026 ESAFETY SOLAR CONTAINER. All rights reserved.

---

JUBA - Tens of thousands of people who fled violence during the brutal civil war that raged across South Sudan in 2013 found sanctuary next to the United Nations peacekeeping base in Juba.

To address growing security concerns among displaced families living in camps in Juba, UNMISS hosted a forum to build trust and strengthen the fragile relationship between residents and ...

It's Monday, December 30, but you can still make a positive impact in 2024. If you've lost count of how many times you've visited Wikipedia this year, we hope that means it's given you at least $2.75 of ...

Below are the main issues that affected the IDPs. The abandoned Juba IDP camps serve as a harrowing testament to the dire conditions faced by displaced individuals in South Sudan.

According to Refugees International's July report, most returnees lack the means to travel back to their communities of origin once they cross the border. In addition, these communities ...

The lack of organized police forces and law enforcement in the Juba IDP camps has created a severe level of insecurity for its residents. To protect themselves from the gangs that ...

The port of Juba lacks basic facilities and is served by mostly manual loading with very few mechanical facilities. The Logistics Cluster has recently scaled up barge and boat operations in response to the ...

Conflict erupted in South Sudan's capital Juba in 2013, barely 2 years after it had gained its independence following the end of the 21 year-long Sudanese civil war. The young country's ...

Website: <https://www.esafet.co.za>

